"Payton Place" To Show "Cry Terror To Be & At A&G Theatre, Sat., Sun. Presented At Legiot # Monday And Tuesday

The manners and morals of small New England town will be revealed in all their stark realism when Jerry Wald's emotion-charged drama, "Peyton Place," is at the A&G Theatre, Saturday, Sunday Monday and Tuesday

To bring this daring story to the screen for 20th Century-Fox-Wald selected a roster of talented stars, combining some of Hollywood's more-seasoned performers with a group of young, up-andcoming pesonalities. They iner pitch throughout the film and clude Lana Turner, Hope Lance, Lee Philips, Lloyd Nolan, Diane Varsi, Arthur Kennedy, Russ Tamblyn, Terry Moore, David Nelson and Barry Coe.

In "Peyton Place" th history of two young women and their attendant problems are carefully scrutinized. These women, played by Hope Lange, as Selena, who starred in "Bus Stop," and Diane Varsi, making her film debut as Allison, are emotionally drawn together in a community in which. by circumstances, they are set at the two extremes of the economic scale. Selena comes from shacktown and Allison from fashionable Elm Street. Both girls are, in the course of the story, faced by difficulties created by their environyears ago who persuaded Joan Crawford to play her first mother role in "Milded Pierce." The role won on Oscar for Miss Crawford. Other important roles in this drama are played by Betty Field, as the ill-fated Nellie Cross; Lee Philips, as the schoolmaster, an uncompromising disciple of truth. Mr. Philips was seen on Broadway last season in the hit play, "Mid dle of the Night." Lloyd Nolan is the doctor with a secret; Terry Moore, the town flirt, and Barry

Coe, her relentless pursuer. The producers set this compell ing drama against some of the loveliest scenery in New England A large Hollywoood troupe moved into Camden, Maine, where almost every physical requirement of the story was to be found, and where many of its citizens appeared as screen "extras."
